Librarian's Report

To the Board of Trustees of the Free Public Library.

Gentlemen:—The present report is the Eighth Annual Report of the Librarian, and the Fifty-seventh Report of the Free Public Library. The year 1908 will always be an important date in the history of this library, since the active work on the new building was commenced during the year, and a beginning was made of introducing library books directly into the grammar schools, the results of which will be referred to later in the report. The contract for building the new library was signed on April 8th, and the active work of construction was started April 13th.

A commemorative celebration was held in City Hall on March 30, at which meeting addresses were made and the following programme carried out.

Orchestral Selection—"Memories of Olden Days"
Address by the Presiding Officer
Hon. William J. Bullock
Singing—"America," by the Audience
(Edgar Lord, Director.)
Address—The City Hall of the Past
Hon. William W. Crapo
Address—The Library of the Future
Rev. Matthew C. Julien
(Representing the Board of Free Public Library Trustees.)
Singing—"Auld Lang Syne" by the Audience.

The corner stone was laid with appropriate ceremony on August 24th.

The next report will probably be written in the new building, the work on which will be finished during the year 1909, and a detailed description of the building will appear in the report for that year.

As in a previous report, I will speak of the resources and the activity of the library under different headings.

RESOURCES.

The library, one of the earliest in the country to be supported by municipal appropriation, which was instituted in 1852 and opened March 3rd, 1853, contains now about 115,000 books. While the library as a whole is well rounded and aims to meet the demands of all classes of readers, yet in several departments the collections are unique and extremely important. In the collections of whaling material and textile works there is no library in the country which is so valuable in those departments. The library is also very strong in genealogy, Americana, and Quaker literature. History, biography, and fine arts are also well represented on our shelves, the weakest department of the library being in pure science, but that should be, and will be, strengthened when there is opportunity to furnish room for the books.

The library subscribes to over 300 periodicals and newspapers. The Poole sets of bound periodicals are very well filled out. We have very complete sets of some of the local papers, and a beginning has been made of a collection of portraits of local celebrities, which should some time be very important.

The library is particularly fortunate in having ample book funds for the supply of books and pictures. Very few libraries in the country but what have to call upon the city to supply book money, but this library is one of the best endowed institutions of the kind, having $316,100 in book funds as a permanent endowment, the income of which is to be used for the purchase of books and periodicals, pictures, and articles of a similar character. The funds are as follows:

George Howland, Jr.,	$1,600
Charles W. Morgan,	1,000
Sylvia Ann Howland,	50,000
James B. Congdon,	500
Charles L. Wood,	2,000
Oliver Crocker,	1,000
George O. Crocker,	10,000
Kempton Fund (The gift of Sarah E. Potter),	250,000

There are three branches—at the north, south, and west, which receive daily service from the main library and also are supplied with book collections so that readers can find books directly on the shelves in these rooms. The branches are open afternoons and evenings, including Sundays.

Three delivery stations are also in operation—one at the West End, at the store of Watson & Wood on Kempton street; one in the southwest part of the city, at Smith and Murphy's; one at the North End, at Lacroix's. Deliveries and collections are made three times a week.

Deposit stations are in operation at five engine houses; 128 school rooms; at the Y. M. C. A.; at several Sunday Schools; and at the Unity Home.

In these days the resources of the library are not confined to the actual books upon the shelves, but by a system of inter-library loans, books may be obtained from any large center in the country, on request of the Librarian, so that books which may not be found upon our shelves, but which are in the libraries of Boston, or New York, or Albany, or Washington, are available to the citizens of New Bedford by application to the library. We loan from this library to other towns and cities in the same way, so that the benefits are mutual.

The Genealogical Department has been strengthened within the last few months by the very generous gift of the books and papers belonging to the estate of Miss Emma E. Peirce, a collection the fruit of many years of research and loving study. The collection will surely prove of great interest and value.

Early in January there was a notable sale in New York of the paintings of Albert Bierstadt, who in early life was a resident of New Bedford. The library Trustees authorized the Librarian to secure one or more examples of his work, and we then secured for the library two distinctive paintings, one. Among the Canadian Rockies, showing Mt. Sir Donald, and the other, A Sunset on the Platte River. The two were secured for $1,625 and are extremely satisfactory examples of the work of an artist, who in his time occupied a place in the front rank of American landscapists.

A collection of Arundel chromo-lithographs was purchased during the year, also a subscription to the Medici Prints.

The most valuable set of books purchased was The North American Indian, by Edward S. Curtis, to be published in 20 volumes with accompanying portfolios.

Owing to the circulation of our bibliography of whaling material we have had many opportunities during the year to add to our collection of whaling pictures and books, so that we have now 751 items in our list of whaling material. Also there have been large purchases of foreign postal cards, which will serve a useful purpose.

A large collection of stereographs covering many foreign countries have been added, and have proved extremely popular and useful, some of the sets of views having been taken out 20 or 30 times.

In response to a request of the Medical Society of this city, a start has been made in supplying medical books and periodicals. The Book Committee, to whom the matter was left, decided to expend $75 this year for that purpose.

ACTIVITIES.

Perhaps the most important new work of the library during the year has been the introduction of books in the grammar grades, from the third through the sixth grade being covered; 128 rooms being supplied with collections of books from 40 to 50 in number for circulation among the pupils in these rooms. The books are circulated by the teachers and monthly reports are rendered through the office of the Superintendent of Schools to the Librarian. It has been very gratifying to note the eagerness with which the books have been received by the pupils, and the intelligent and enthusiastic co-operation of the teachers in making this distribution of books a success. In this way, books have been sent into homes which have been absolutely without opportunity for the means of culture which such books afford. From personal letters from the children themselves, from the universal appreciation shown by the teachers, and from the testimony of the School Department, we feel that the work is doing good service, and the gratifying figures of circulation, 105,030 books, show the wide-spread influence which has been exerted. I quote a few words from the School Report for last year.

"Acting upon the suggestion of the Librarian several months ago the Trustees of the library made an offer to the School Board to place in each of the third and fourth grades of the school a set of fifty books to be loaned freely to the children to take home as they pleased, provided the Board would assume the care of the books and the teachers would keep a record of each book loaned and make a return to the office of the Superintendent of Schools at the end of each month of the number of books loaned. These books were to be replaced by others two or three times a year and gradually this plan was to be extended to the other grades of the schools.

"The School Board accepted the offer of the Trustees with gratitude, and the teachers the responsibility with willingness, both recognizing the great power for good such a plan would have. The books have already been placed in the third and fourth grades and the children are reading them with avidity. They are permitted to exercise free choice in their selection of books, the teacher making no suggestion as to what they shall take out. These books have been selected with great care by the Librarian with the aid of lists prepared for this work in other cities, notably New York; so while each child is permitted to exercise his individual taste in his selection of books, he is certain not to get a bad one.

"The teachers report that not only are these books read with pleasure by the children of the third and fourth grades, but by their older brothers and sisters, and by many of the parents themselves. When the plan is in full operation it will require more than eight thousand books to supply the schools. They will go into very many homes where a good book or any good literature would not be found otherwise. The children will acquire at an early age the taste for good literature, and when once acquired they will have no liking for the other kind.

"But these books have another value. They are filled with an unlimited amount of useful information; by them the events of history are portrayed through the lives of heroes and other great men; the facts of geography, by pleasant descriptions of travel and adventure; science, by works on nature and her innumerable products; and art, by illustrations and the lives of artists; all of which tend to mould character and incite to useful lives.

"I do not know of any one thing that has been inaugurated in the schools that gives such promise as this bringing into the lives of the children good and instructive books, adapted to their age and tastes, in such a way that they will not fail to read them. The beneficent results cannot be measured, and I believe that many is the boy and girl of our schools, who, when grown to manhood and womanhood, will rise up to bless those who did this thing."

Among the publications of the library during the year have been the following:

List of 500 old novels.

List of references to Playgrounds.

List of good boys' books.

List of good books for girls.

City Hall Commemoration, New Bedford, Mass., March 30, 1908.

List of references to sociological books, prepared for the Teachers' Seminar.

A large edition of the "Additions to the library from 1900 through 1907"; a pamphlet of 305 pages, indexed and classified, with the titles of every book added during the years mentioned.

List of magazines taken by the library in 1908.

The Librarian, as has been the custom for the last four or five years, has given a course of talks to the normal classes in the Harrington School, with the idea of familiarizing the young teachers with the work of the library, so that their work may be more helpful to themselves and to their future pupils.

The Librarian has lectured at Simmons College to the classes in the Library School, and also has given addresses at the State Librarians' Meetings at Newport, R. I., and at Pittsfield, Mass., and has also written for the Library Journal, by request of the editor, a paper on "What to do with bad books."

The Librarian has visited during the year libraries in the following places: Brooklyn, Pittsfield, Boston, Newport, Oakland, Cal., Los Angeles, Denver, Col.

The circulation of the library, largely owing to the active work done with the schools and the large purchase of books, has more than doubled over the preceding year. While it should never be the aim of the library to strive for a large circulation in itself, yet an increasing use of the books is a good sign, and if obtained without sacrificing anything else, is to be encouraged.

The privilege of taking books from the library for an extended period during the summer, or what is known as "The Vacation Privilege," has been in operation this year, as during previous years, and has proved to be successful, and has given great satisfaction.

The various tables at the end of the report show the details which explain the use of the various classes of books circulated.

The library officials stand ready to notify those who desire to know when books on certain subjects are put into the library. Such service will be gladly rendered, and postals sent to those who request it.

The regulations governing the use of the library which had not been revised since 1891 were thoroughly revised, and certain changes made and the rules as finally revised will be found in Appendix G.

There have been three new assistants appointed during the year. Miss Anna W. Cleveland, assistant in the Accession Department and desk attendant; Miss Grace D. Sherman, desk attendant; and Miss Minerva F. Maxfield, stenographer and assistant to the cataloguer. The staff of attendants work harmoniously and are giving very satisfactory service, without exception.

Some discussion was occasioned early in the year in another city by the statement that only 10% of the cost of running the library was expended in that city on books. The statement itself, even if on the face of it true, was decidedly misleading and unfair, since the cost of the book, that is the money paid to the bookseller, is no gauge of the actual cost of the book when it reaches the hands of the reader. It has been estimated that each book costs from 25 to 35c additional in being prepared for circulation. This covers the time of the person who selects the books, which sometimes means a large amount of time devoted to reading reviews, culling over publishers' lists, etc., the numerous order slips and cards required in ordering the book, then checking the receipt, collating the books to be sure that every book is in perfect condition, cutting pages, making entries about the author, publisher, list price, net price, source or purchase, etc., and the fund from which the book is bought; all this requires expert assistance, which takes time and consequently adds to the original cost of the book. But more important still is the fact that the mere purchase of the book is not the end and aim of the library. It is the object of the well managed library to see that the book is circulated among those whom it will most benefit. This means preparing paper lists, bulletins, etc., so that the book, instead of becoming "dead wood" upon the shelves, shall have an active circulation and become a live book. So when the statement is made that only 10% of the money spent in running the library is spent in actual book purchases, it is, as I have stated above, misleading. However, in this connection I have tabulated somewhat the expenditures for books in our library, and find that in 1906 the actual expenditure for books was 18.4%, in 1907, 24%, in 1908, 37%; while the expenditures for books, magazines, and pictures in 1906 was about 28%, in 1907 about 37%, and in 1908 about 52%, which is probably as large a percentage as any library can show.

It will be seen in the appendix that something over $11,000 was spent for books during the year; about $3,500 of that sum was spent for the school collections, leaving the amount spent for the main collections in the library and branches about $7,500. Of this amount for new fiction the amount spent was $1,094, which is interesting as showing that while nearly 70% of the circulation is fiction, yet the cost of the fiction purchased is a very small proportion of the amount spent for more solid literature.

The Librarian wishes to express to the Board his appreciation of the courtesy and help shown by the members of the Board to the Librarian and his staff during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

GEO. H. TRIPP, Librarian.

RULES AND REGULATIONS
BOARD OF TRUSTEES
NEW BEDFORD
FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.
Adopted July 31, 1908.

Section 1. The Mayor of the city is the president of the Board of Trustees.

Section 2. When the president is absent, any member may call the meeting to order and preside during the choice of a temporary chairman.

Section 3. At the regular meeting in April the Board shall organize with the election of a clerk and the Mayor's appointment of standing committees, each to consist of three members, to be designated as follows:

Library Committee, Committee on Building, Finance Committee, Committee on Reading Rooms and Branch Libraries.

If for any reason such committees are not at that time so appointed, they may be at any subsequent meeting elected by ballot by the trustees, if the president has not made the appointments before the board so acts.

Section 4. Vacancies in any standing committee may be filled at any meeting through appointment or election.

Section 5. Special committees shall be appointed by the president or chairman.

Section 6. Meetings shall be held on the last Friday of each month, unless the last Friday be a legal holiday, in which case the meeting shall be held on the next previous day.

Section 7. Notice of all meetings shall be sent, under direction of the clerk, to each member of the board. If sent by mail, such notice shall be sent at least one day previous to the meeting.

Section 8. Special meetings may be called by the president or by any three members, provided written notice thereof shall be mailed as early as one day before the date set for such meeting.

Section 9. Four members shall constitute a quorum. In absence of special rules, Robert's Pocket Manual of Rules of Order shall be followed.

Section 10. The Standing Committee on the Library shall have a general oversight of the operations of the Library and all its branches, and shall have power to impose penalties for breach of these regulations.

The Standing Committee on the Building shall have the oversight of the main Library building.

The Finance Committee shall estimate the amount of the city's annual appropriation required for Library uses, and perform such other duties as the board may from time to time direct.

The Committee on Reading Rooms and Branches shall have general control of the fixtures and furnishings of the Branch Libraries and Reading Rooms.

All committees shall be subject to special directions from the full board.

Section 11. Connected with the management of the Library there shall be a clerk, superintendent and librarian, and such assistants and janitors as from time to time may be authorized by the trustees. Except as otherwise provided they shall be elected by the trustees in January.

Section 12. The clerk shall be the recording officer of the Board of Trustees. All the records and papers of the board shall be in his possession subject to its order.

Section 13. The Librarian shall have charge of all the rooms occupied by the Library and the custody of all the property connected with it, contained in them. He shall be responsible to the trustees for the faithful discharge of his duties. All books, periodicals, maps, charts, manuscripts, and pictures shall be catalogued and arranged by him, or under his direction; and in all matters connected with their use, preservation, and circulation, he shall see that the rules of the trustees are complied with. It shall be his duty to preserve order in the Library rooms, and to do whatever may be required to promote the use of the Library and the convenience of visitors. He shall receive all fines, keeping a record of the same.

LIBRARY REGULATIONS.

Section 1. The Library shall be open every day, unless the trustees otherwise order, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., except on Sundays and on legal holidays; and on these days the Library may be opened for readers at such times and during such hours as the trustees may from time to time determine.

Section 2. A failure by any person to conform to all rules and regulations as to Library government shall be treated as a forfeiture of his right to use in any way the Library property until the Library Committee otherwise orders.

Section 3. Strangers, residing temporarily in the city, may be allowed the privileges of residents for four weeks, with the privilege of renewal.

Section 4. Books may be taken from the Library by all resident adults. Teachers in the public schools who live outside the city limits shall have all the privileges of residents.

Section 5. A delivery upon the order of a taker of books shall be held a delivery to him in person.

Section 6. A minor 12 years old or upwards, resident in the city, may be allowed the rights of adults as taker of books, by giving the Librarian a certificate signed by some responsible adult, also a resident, by which the signer shall become responsible for said minor as he would be for himself.

Section 7. All persons having the right to take books shall, before exercising such right, enter into an obligation in writing that they will observe all rules and regulations of the Library, and that they will be responsible for all fines, loss, or damage incurred through their use of the Library. This obligation shall be in such form as the Committee on the Library shall direct.

Section 8. All books, periodicals, etc., shall bear the Library stamp.

Section 9. Every person entitled to take books from the Library shall receive from the Librarian a printed eard bearing the name of the applicant. The catalogue number of the book desired should be written in the space left for that purpose, and this card presented at the delivery desk.

Section 10. Two books may be taken at a time on one Library card, but only one of these may be a volume of fiction. In special cases the Committee on the Library may, upon the recommendation of the Librarian, permit the issue of a greater number of volumes.

Section 11. A person returning a book may retake it unless at the time he desires to do so there is on the waiting list another application for it.

Section 12. All books taken from the Library may be retained two weeks unless a shorter time is specified.

Section 13. Books returned must be delivered at the delivery desk, to the Librarian, or to his assistants.

Section 14. The fine for retaining a book beyond the allowed period shall be one cent per day. When a book shall be damaged or lost, the actual loss shall be paid.

Section 15. A record shall be kept by the Librarian of all donations made to the Library, and this record shall be placed before the trustees at each monthly meeting. The clerk, under the direction of the board, shall make an acknowledgment to the donors.

Section 16. All books presented the Library shall have the names of the donors placed upon them; and a list of donations for the year shall be contained in each annual report.

These rules and regulations may be amended at any meeting of the trustees by six affirmative votes.
